

Jim Delisle, General Superintendent

Profile

Jim brings a unique background not often found in the construction industry:

- 3 years as a Project Manager for Turnstone Corporation
- 6 years as a Job Superintendent throughout his career
- 10 years as a Senior Project Manager for a Commercial Contractor specializing in Construction Management and Design Build Contracting.
- 10 years working with one of New Hampshire's top Architects as Vice President/ General Manager.
- 4 years operating his own Construction Consulting firm specializing working with New Hampshire School Districts and Municipalities on construction related projects.
- Over Jim's career he has been involved in well over a hundred projects varying in all building types throughout New Hampshire.

Starting his professional career in the Construction Industry as a Carpenter, installing residential foundations and framing homes, Jim was promoted through the ranks eventually becoming a Senior Project Manager. In this role, Jim quickly solidified a reputation as an honest, owner orientated individual whose top priority was making sure that project budgets and schedule were in line with and maintained at the expected levels.

Jim moved out of the construction end of the industry for an opportunity to work with one of New Hampshire's highly regarded and successful Architectural firms. As Vice-President/General Manager, he used his management skills and construction knowledge to be an integral part in propelling the Firm to be one of the top Architects in the State.

After ten years working for Team Design, Jim started his own Consulting firm where he used his skills, resources and experience to facilitate numerous construction projects for various clients throughout the State.

Recently the opportunity arose to go back to his roots in the construction industry. Along with him, he brought a vast amount of experience, knowledge and an excellent reputation that emerges as a significant contribution to every project here at Turnstone Corporation.

Jim brings a wealth of experience and understanding of construction projects from conception to final completion. With his honest communication and collaborative approach, he is always prepared to work with any member of a project team to do what is in the best interest of the client.
